Bishop Bloomfield discovered one day as he entered the pulpit that he had forgotten the manuscript of his sermon. It was impossible to do as the Scottish minister did in similar circumstances, send for the sermon from his home while the congregation sang Psalm 119. No, he must preach extempore, and did so, taking for his theme the existence of God. Very well satisfied he felt with his effort. As he walked home he overtook one of his congregation, whose opinion of the sermon he invited. "Well, it was a very good sermon," was the reply, "but I don't agree with it. I believe there is a God."

The Salt in the Ocean.

If the ocean did not have salt it would freeze somewhat more readily than it does now, but there would be no very marked difference. The ocean is prevented from freezing not so much by its salt as by its size and by its circulation. On account of its size large portions of it extend into warm climates at all seasons, and by reason of its great depth it is a vast storehouse of heat. Its currents distribute much warm water among the cold. —St. Nicholas.

Wealth of Words.

"He talks very interestingly," said one girl.
"Yes," replied the other, "but in all the stories I ever read the man who used lovely language was always poor and struggling. It doesn't seem a good sign to me." —Washington Star.

An Angel Once.

"Does it create a furor in your family when you go home late?" asked Bjorne of his friend De Smith.
"No; it creates a furor," was the suggestive answer. —Chicago Record-Herald.

Experimented With Poisons.

When Antony and Cleopatra were contemplating suicide they made a collection of a great variety of poisons and tried each of them on two or more slaves in order to ascertain whether death was accompanied with much apparent suffering. One historian declares that over 200 persons lost their lives in order that the information might be obtained. The result was that Antony killed himself with a dagger and Cleopatra either with one of her selected poisons or by a serpent's bite.

Littleton—What under the canopy are you going to do with all that white satin? Mrs. Littleton—Why, it's for baby! It was such a bargain. I knew I'd never find any so cheap again, and it will be lovely for her wedding gown. —Brooklyn Life. He Knew. "Come, Willie," said mother at the table, "sit up like a man." "Why, mother," replied Willie, "aren't you sitting down for your food? It's only dogs that sit up." —Exchange. There is no path so steep as that of crime. —Hazlitt.

NATURE'S NOBLEMEN.

Those Who Are Ambitious to Be Useful Rather Than Rich.

A young man of ability and great promise recently refused to enter a vocation which would yield him a large income, lest the temptation to become rich might cut up his desire to help his fellow men. He feared that the frantic struggle for wealth and self being waged by the majority of men with whom his position would force him to associate would insensibly draw him into the same vortex of selfishness. He felt that his ideals would become tarnished, that his aspirations would be starved in such an atmosphere, and so he chose a vocation which would enable him to render the greatest service to humanity.

It is a refreshing thing in a material age to see people who are ambitious to be useful rather than rich, who are more eager to help others than to make money. These are nature's noblemen; these are the characters which enrich life and which have pushed civilization up from the savage to the Florence Nightingales and the Lincolns.

One of the most promising things about our civilization today is that, side by side with the greed for gold, is the ever growing passion of humanity for good. The number of people who prefer to be useful to their fellow men rather than to make money is constantly increasing. This passion for good is the salt of humanity; it is what makes us believe in the future of the race.—Success.

ARTISTIC TEMPERAMENT.

Defined as a Disease That Affects Amateurs.

Gilbert K. Chesterton's "Heretics" contains some of his keenest and most amusing writings. Of great men he observes: "The first rate great man is equal with other men, like Shakespeare. The second rate great man is on his knees to other men, like Whitman. The third rate great man is superior to other men, like Whistler." In the following there may be discovered as much truth as humor:

"The artistic temperament is a disease which afflicts amateurs. It is a disease which arises from men not having sufficient power of expression to utter and get rid of the element of art in their being. It is healthful to every sane man to utter the art within him; it is essential to every sane man to get rid of the art within him at all costs. Artists of a large and wholesome vitality get rid of their art easily, but in artists of less force the thing becomes a pressure and produces a definite pain, which is called the artistic temperament. Thus very great artists are able to be ordinary men—men like Shakespeare or Browning. There are many real tragedies of the artistic temperament, but the great tragedy of the artistic temperament is that it cannot produce any art.

THE BRIDES OF VENICE.

An Ancient Custom That Once Had a Rude Interruption.

In the year 902, according to old custom, all the brides for the year at Venice assembled on St. Mary's eve at the cathedral, talking with their their dowries in small chests. There they awaited their bridegrooms, who followed them, and after mass they were married and received the bishop's blessing.

In this year the sea rovers of Trieste burst in upon the expectant maidens, who were all dressed in white, with hair loosely flowing and interwoven with threads of gold, carried them off to their barks and hoisted sail.

The doge of Venice summoned his men to arms, pursued the rovers, overtook them in a creek still known as the Port of the Damozels and brought the brides back to triumph.

In memory of this event a solemn procession of twelve young women took place yearly, and the Marian games were observed with great splendor until the year 1379, when they were discontinued in a time of disastrous war.—London Standard.

Jefferson Identified Him.

Laurence Hutton, the author, once stopped at the Touraine hotel in Boston on his way from Bar Harbor to New York, and, being short of funds, after his summer outing, the hotel clerk required identification before signing him a suit of rooms.

Mr. Hutton looked around the lobby and noticed Joe Jefferson, to whom he confided his predicament. Mr. Jefferson went to the desk and slapping Mr. Hutton on the back, remarked to the clerk, "I don't know who Laurence claims to be, but he's the boy." He was given the pick of the house.

Somewhat Different.

"This question whether a word should have its adverbial or its adjective form seems to me to have little to do with the sense. Now, what is the difference between talking loud and talking loudly?"

"No difference," replied the pedagogical friend. "But look here: For a large fee you give legal advice freely, but you don't give it free. I think that will retain you for awhile."

A Noncombatant.

"I didn't know you were in the choir. What's your position there?"

"Neutral."

"How do you mean?"

"I don't side with either faction." —Philadelphia Ledger.

Escaped His Memory.

Mr. Selfmade—Why do they call it an album, my son? The Graduate—Why—er—the fact is, I can't remember what they taught us about that.—New York Press.

WEAK HEARTS

are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the Stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.

MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Fern Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I ate heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.
